

will one day, hire me. I am lucky to get the help with the caseworkers that I do have. I feel negative about my future when it comes to having children; I would feel guilty if the condition is passed on.

The next sub- topic was hopelessness. The only time I feel this way is when I look at the negative aspects of having Nystagmus. So, instead think about the positive aspects of having the condition and focus on what you can do.

The last topic was Giving up/Not attempting. I feel this way when I do not have a ride to get to an event. There are things that I want to do, however there is not reliable paratransit transportation in my area. Even though the paratransit isn't that great at least, It's there to use.

I feel happy that doctors and scientists want to look at these issues further, however I feel the report was very negative. I hope this will educate the public on the impact of Nystagmus in a more positive light.

Gallery

Click on the image to view the larger version.

(/blog)

Stay in touch

sign up to our newsletter